My flexible one-to-one language training focus on precisely what you need to help you progress quickly with your favourite language. Regardless if it's for a diploma preparation, for business or private purposes, I'll make sure that you reach your goals.

Whether you're relocating to a German speaking country, working with English speaking colleagues or clients, or need to communicate more fluently with a partner and their family, or just elementary communication for your next Spanish speaking holiday. My personalised one-to-one course focuses solely on your needs and interests.

CFT2 provides practical instruction for everyday business tasks, such as participating effectively in meetings, going on business trips, writing emails, discussing business, and better social language skills.

I'm a native speaker and native-level with a deep understanding of the social and cultural use of these three languages. From making company presentations to improving social language skills, I'll base your tuition on your Needs Analysis Form and current level so your studies are tailored to your exact requirements.

The quickest and most effective way to learn is by taking one-to-one classes. In these classes we consider your specific needs and goals that suits your profile and your requirements. With private lessons, you get the maximum flexibility to refine and develop your language skills.
